Put your personal stamp on your selfmade soap! With a noble packaging and a stamped message, giving away soaps is even more fun!

Pour soap

The multi-layered soaps in this idea are, of course, packaged in cork. The real highlight, however, is the paper label, which is printed using a special stamp. The soap is made in two layers in a rectangular soap mould. In the first step, white liquid soap is heated in the microwave, and the mould is filled only halfway. Next, transparent liquid soap is mixed with a few drops of blue soap colour, heated in the microwave and then poured onto the set white soap in the casting mould until the casting mould is filled to the brim.

Gift wrapping

Choose a noble Coloured paper and stamp your personal message. Cut the Paper into a label and punch it in one place.

Cut a narrow strip of cork paper, wrap it around the soap and fix the Paper, by wrapping it with natural string and tie a knot. Hang the label on the thread and make a loop.
