Who wouldn't be happy about a little something for Valentine's Day or just because? Our idea is simple and leaves plenty of room for individual ideas and preferences. It can also be made as a wedding gift and then filled with money or vouchers.

This is how the beautiful boxes are designed:

First cut the paper to the size of the box. Now you can decorate it as you like. You can use a magnetic punch to cut out hearts or write on the paper in advance with a marker, such as small messages or the name of the person receiving the gift.

Then cover the boxes with your paper and stick it down with double-sided adhesive tape. Now you can decorate the boxes according to your personal taste. With cut-out hearts in different sizes, banderoles made of contrasting coloured paper and beautiful hand lettering, the boxes become an eye-catcher.

You can place small messages or vouchers in the boxes. How about a voucher for a candlelight dinner, for example? Small treats that find their place in the matchboxes are also very popular.
