Tin boxes for lots of pretty little things

Instructions No. 530

Difficulty: Advanced

Working time: 40 Minutes

With little effort you can create these pretty chip boxes. The borders are already completely Napkin contained in the and must be stuck only on. Small bows Satin ribbon complete the look.

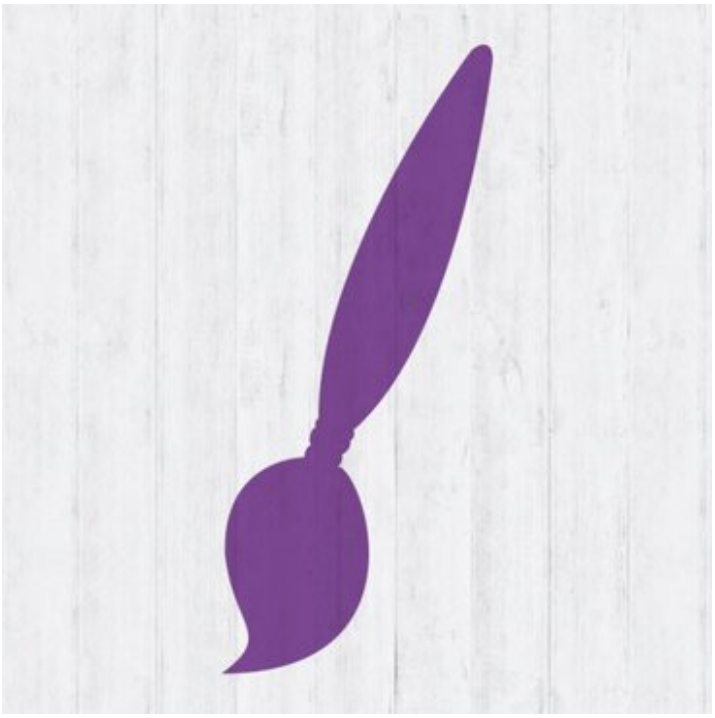

And so it goes

Prime the boxes and lids white at the beginning. Then cut the desired borders from Napkin and remove the two unprinted layers of paper. Spray the printed paper layer from behind with the spray adhesive and place it exactly along the bottom edge around the boxes and on the lid. If this doesn't work the first time, carefully pull off the Napkin and place it again. Carefully smooth out the thin Paper and then apply Napkin varnish from the inside out. After drying, simply cut back the remaining Paper along the edges with a scalpel
Finally, wipe over the edges with the flat Ink Pads and apply Satin ribbon .

This idea is timelessly beautiful!
